

THE GAINESVILLE STAR

DEVOTED TO THE MORAL, BUSINESS AND POLITICAL INTERESTS OF CITY, COUNTY AND STATE.

VOLUME I. GAINESVILLE, FLORIDA, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1903. NO. 63

WARM POLITICS IN GAINESVILLE

Stockton, Jennings and Others Friday Afternoon.

WARMER TIME FRIDAY NIGHT

Holloway and Sheats, and Congressional and Gubernatorial Candidates Speak.

Gainesville was invaded last Friday by many of the Senatorial, Congressional and State candidates, and some of the warmest speeches of the campaign were made before large audiences. It was the occasion of the well advertised and much talked about Sheats-Holloway debate.

The meetings were presided over by Dr. J. F. McKinstry, Jr., chairman of the County Democratic Executive Committee, and being convinced that all of the candidates could not have a hearing at any one meeting the chairman arranged for the senatorial and some State candidates to speak in the afternoon, and the Congressional and remaining State candidates at night.

The afternoon speaking began—in the court house—at 2:30 o'clock. At first the audience was rather small, but when the speaking commenced others came in and soon there was a good sized audience.

Hon. A. C. Croom, State Comptroller, and a candidate for re-election, was the first speaker introduced, and he presented his claims to the office in a quiet and dignified manner.

Hon. James E. Broome, candidate for Secretary of State, was next introduced and made one of those eloquent speeches for which he is noted. He called attention to the fact that he was born in Florida, on the same day the State was admitted into the Union, and spoke of his long service in the Confederate army, his devotion to and work in the Democratic party all of his life, and especially during the days and times which tried men's souls—the reconstruction period. He assured his hearers of his competency to fill the office, and made a real fine impression.

Hon. W. H. Ellis, candidate for Attorney General, was introduced and recited a pleasing history of his life from the time when he was left an orphan boy at a tender age, and showed how he had shown himself competent and worthy whenever ardent duties had fallen on him. He made a favorable impression.

STOCKTON AND JENNINGS.

By this time the audience had grown considerably, and every one was on the tip of expectation when the chairman announced that Governor W. S. Jennings, candidate for United States Senator, was the next speaker. The Governor was liberally applauded when he rose to speak, and at several times during his speech he was applauded. He said he had been informed that he was charged with vetoing items in the appropriation for East Florida Seminary because he had a grudge against Gainesville. The Governor affirmed with emphasis that the charges were without foundation; declared his act in the matter was prompted by a sense of duty, and that the bill he signed in 1901, carrying similar appropriations was also unconstitutional and should have been treated as was the 1903 bill, but the question was not then raised, and he signed the bill without looking into it, etc. He referred to his candidacy, his services as governor, and declared if he became United States Senator he would try to have the millions of lands which justly belong to Florida under the swamp lands act, so managed as to swell the school fund. He would abide the action of the people; Florida's senator would be his senator.

HON. J. N. C. STOCKTON SPEAKS.

It was now getting near the supper hour, and the people were naturally getting restless, but they stayed to hear the matchless campaigner. A storm of applause greeted the introduction of Mr. Stockton. He proceeded at once to discuss the condition and needs of the people. He spoke in his usual manner of the evils of corruption, greed and control. He assured his hearers that what the corporations—the Standard Oil Company and others—wanted and were fighting for could not possibly be what the people needed and should contend for. The Times-Union and other papers owned and controlled by the corporations could not be sincere in their professions of love for the people, and, therefore, the efforts of these Republican supported papers in behalf of one of his opponents must of necessity be looked upon with suspicion by the masses of the people.

He attacked Governor Jennings' record, and when one in the audience said, "And how about Taliaferro?" he said, "Mr. Taliaferro is not here and I never like to talk about my opponents in their absence; I hope to have Mr. Taliaferro here sometime in the future, and then I will attend to his record."

He declared the Governor was incompetent.

stent in signing the appropriation bill for the East Florida Seminary in 1901 and we ought like it in a bill in 1903. He showed that the bills were identical. "But," said the speaker, "if Governor Jennings had never done anything else wrong, the signing of the Plagiar divorce bill was enough to damn him in the estimation of the people." He declared the law was a disgrace to the State and it was the duty, and in the power of the Governor to have saved the State from the disgrace. He drew a word picture: Suppose one of you gentlemen should have a pure sweet daughter to marry a man and afterwards become temporarily insane and her husband should put her away because of her misfortune. He did not say the Plagiar law was for temporary insanity, but used "temporary" in drawing the picture, remembering, as he has said on other occasions, and as every body knows, that no physician is able to tell when insanity is incurable—cases have been pronounced incurable and were afterwards cured.

THE GOVERNOR REPLIES.

Governor Jennings was on his feet immediately after Mr. Stockton sat down, and after the loud and long applause which followed Stockton's address had subsided Jennings, who by this time was thoroughly angry, went for Stockton in a very bitter manner. Charged him with saying the divorce bill was a Plagiar measure and for temporary insanity, when neither "temporary" or "Plagiar" appeared in the bill. The Governor spoke at considerable length; seemed so angry he hardly knew when and how to quit, and repeated some of his sentences several times.

Mr. Stockton uttered a few words in reply; explained that the word temporary was used only in drawing a picture, and thought the Governor had become unduly and unnecessarily excited. Both speakers were liberally applauded but it was very evident that the Stockton men were largely in the majority. Stockton's reference to the divorce bill was applauded enthusiastically by both men and ladies.

SPEAKING FRIDAY NIGHT.

The speaking Friday night was more largely attended than was the afternoon meeting—the court house was crowded beyond its seating capacity—and many more ladies were present.

Chairman McKinstry announced that Holloway and Sheats would not be limited as to time, but the Congressional and Gubernatorial candidates would be limited to ten minutes each. Hon. W. M. Holloway, candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, was introduced first. He stated that he had been sick all day and should then be in bed. He would make no speech except to answer the charges preferred by his opponent, Mr. Sheats. Mr. Sheats was then introduced and made one of the ablest, but bitterest, speeches we ever heard. He spoke two hours and seven minutes, and was very bitter-charging Holloway with incompetency, carelessness and even worse. He produced figures which he declared showed the country to be in a deplorable condition as far as the school funds are concerned, and he blamed Holloway for it. He drew a word picture showing himself hard at work in the interest of the school children of Florida, and Holloway trying to cut off his head to get his "job."

In this picture he reflected on the honor of Rev. J. B. Holley, pastor of the First Baptist church; showed him a two-o'clock man dabbling in other callings than that of the ministry, and with Holloway and a great company of little lies—supposed to represent school teachers and other friends of Holloway—on the road to hell. Many of Mr. Sheats' staunchest friends admit that he did wrong in this matter, and we think Mr. Sheats will admit it himself. Rev. Holley replied to the thrust in a vigorous manner, and left no doubt in the minds of those present as to his opinion of Mr. Sheats.

HOLLOWAY REPLIES.

For forty-eight minutes Mr. Holloway spoke in reply to Mr. Sheats. He was bitter in his denunciation of the man, whom he pictured as a sarcastic bulldozer. He affirmed that Sheats did invite Booker Washington to speak to white school superintendents in the white school auditorium, and denied the truth of Sheats' assertion that Sam DeBose wrote an invitation in his (Holloway's) office and at his suggestion, and produced an affidavit by DeBose substantiating his denial. He charged Sheats with appropriating to his own use a school warrant for four hundred and odd dollars when he was county superintendent. Said while he was away from his office several months ago, Sheats went to the office, plundered therein, and certain records had not since shown up in the office.

Mr. Sheats had said—in his speech—that to Jno. W. Wideman belonged the credit for building the fine school buildings at Gainesville and Micanopy, and he took to himself much of the credit for improvements during the last few years. Mr. Holloway could not understand how it was that Sheats had accomplished so much more for Alachua county since he went to Tallahassee than he did while here in Alachua. According to that kind of reasoning he thinks he can do more good if the people will send him to Tallahassee, and when he becomes State Superintendent he will try to have his successor here to give Mr. Sheats a second or third grade certificate and a school either at Cow Creek or Gomm. He must have at least a third grade certificate, though, declared Mr. Holloway.

Referring to Mr. Sheats' charge that he was incompetent and that the affairs of the office were in a deplorable condition, Mr. Holloway read extracts from a local paper, which quoted State Auditor Ellis, of Quincy, as declaring the books were in a most excellent condition, and complimenting all of Alachua county's officers. Mr. Holloway then pointed to State Auditor Ellis, who was present and occupied a seat only a few feet from the speaker, and said: "This is what Mr. Ellis says about the condition of the records in my office, and there sits Mr. Ellis."

Mr. Sheats replied to Mr. Holloway in a fifteen minute speech, and was very bitter in his denunciation of Holloway for insinuating that he (Sheats) had stolen records from the County Superintendent's office.

Both speakers were applauded liberally, but judging by the applause, the Holloway men seemed to be in the majority.

After the speaking was over Mr. Holloway said he did not mean any reflection upon the Cow Creek and Gomm schools by proposing to send Mr. Sheats to one of them, but mentioned them because they are some of the smallest schools in the county, and might be willing to accept an inferior teacher.

OTHER CANDIDATES SPEAK.

It was after 10:30 when the Holloway and Sheats speeches were concluded and Chairman McKinstry announced that the Congressional and Gubernatorial candidates would be allowed ten minutes each.

Hon. J. M. Barrs, candidate for Congress was then introduced. This gentleman seemed to realize the fact that the audience was already worn out, and he detained his hearers only four minutes. Said it was utterly impossible for him to do justice to the occasion in the few minutes allotted to him, and expressed a desire to come again when he could find the people better prepared to hear him. He made a favorable impression.

Hon. Frank Clark, candidate for Congress, was introduced and spoke twelve minutes. He anticipated Alexander's speech, ripped "Jim" up the back in a pleasant way, said he hoped to have another and more favorable opportunity to address our people, and was liberally applauded.

Hon. James E. Alexander, candidate for Congress, spoke twelve minutes, complimented the ladies and Hon. R. W. Davis, spoke of his own desires and fitness to be Congressman, his love for Florida in general and Alachua county and Gainesville in particular. He also promised to come again, and was applauded liberally.

Hon. C. M. Brown, candidate for Governor, spoke eight minutes. He spoke of his devotion to the Democratic party in the days of long ago, his record as State Senator, and advised Jim Alexander to look out for his own candidacy and quit trying to carry "Bob Davis" on his shoulder. Mr. Brown's manner was very pleasant.

Hon. N. B. Broward, candidate for Governor, was the next and last speaker. He spoke eleven minutes, and called attention to the importance of electing a Governor whom the corporations could not use in the furtherance of their schemes. He showed that he was well posted and the people were favorably impressed with him. He, like each of the other short time speakers, said he could not do justice to the occasion in the few minutes he had to speak, but would at some future time appear before our people and discuss the issues of the campaign.

Important Notice.

Our contract with the Argo Portrait Company, of Chicago, will end January 1st next. All customers holding tickets for $15 in trade, and $3.50 for a frame, will call and select frames between now and January 1st, as everything will be settled by that time, and all frames not sold will be returned to the company. This is to give all our customers ample time to get pictures and select frames, so there will be no dissatisfaction.

O'DONALD & SAUNDERS, Gainesville, Fla. November 11-61.

Engineer Shot.

Early yesterday morning Mr. Weems, the agent at Homosassa, shot and seriously wounded Mr. Ballard, the engineer on the Ocala and Homosassa run. The ball entered his left side going through the vest pocket. Mr. Ballard was carried to Ocala for treatment. The mail agent stated that he was present during the altercation, and that the agent and engineer had had some words about sand, which terminated in the above result.—Crystal River News, Nov. 26.

DEAD.—Since the above was put in type we have learned that Mr. Ballard died from the effects of his wound.

Christmas Entertainment.

The Baptist Sunday School appointed committees Sunday afternoon to arrange for suitable entertainment for the young members of the school on Christmas night. It will be decided next Sunday what and where the entertainment will be. The other schools of the city will also probably have nice entertainments of some kind.

Howe's Great London Shows will exhibit in Gainesville December 2.

Try Fagan's market for best meats.

Capt. J. W. Carter of Micanopy was a visitor to the city Friday.

Have your clothing cleaned at Owen Lloyd's Dye Works. July 14, 11

M. L. Moore, the Rochelle naval stores man, was in the city Friday.

Barlow's Minstrels in the opera house tonight. Don't fail to attend.

Hon. T. J. McRae of Hawthorn was in the city Friday night and Saturday.

C. M. Dell of Hague attended the meeting here Friday afternoon and night.

T. M. Cauthen of Waldo was among the business men in Gainesville Friday.

There were many school teachers in the city last week. They are now back at their schools.

R. D. Spivey, a naval store man of Grove Park, was a business visitor to the city Saturday.

J. F. Whetstone of Mikesville and A. E. Summers of High Springs, were in the city yesterday.

J. M. Turner, a popular citizen of Lakeview, was one of the many visitors to Gainesville Friday.

Old newspapers, suitable for wrapping purposes, 15 cts. a hundred or 25 for 5 cts., at THE STAR office.

Gus A. Murtin of Eve, in Levy county, was among those who attended the political meeting here Friday night.

If you want money to buy or build a home, pay off mortgage, or contract for a profitable investment see Movers.

Elder C. Matheson filled the Presbyterian pulpit at High Springs Sunday, returning to this city yesterday.

If you have no girl borrow some one else's girl and go to Howe's big show which will exhibit here December 2.

Jno. V. Denton, a prominent citizen of Lake View, was among those who attended the political rally here last Friday.

When you want a team that is not only good for service, but handsome as well, you should apply at Thomas' stables.

F. M. Ramsey and R. S. Bradley, two prominent citizens of Wacahoota, were transacting business in the city Saturday.

Rev. W. J. Carpenter returned Friday from Osceola county, where he went to assist in the anti-saloon campaign in that county.

If it is job printing you want just send your order to the Star. It will have prompt attention, and work and prices will suit you.

G. C. Snowden of Orange Heights was in the city Friday and paid this office a pleasant call and had his name placed on our subscription list.

In our jewelry department, we have a splendid line of stylish and serviceable pocketbooks, wrist bags and chateleine bags. L. C. Smith.

Mr. Jacob Feaster, who has been public road overseer during the last several months turned over the work to his successor, Mr. Thigpin yesterday.

The Bowie, Texas, Press says: "Howe's Great London Shows was clean and good throughout." The shows will exhibit in Gainesville December 2.

O. L. Rogers, of High Springs, died in that city on Wednesday of last week, and his remains were taken to his former home in Georgia for burial.

Giddings' Hair Grower does the work. For Sale by Dr. S. B. Giddings, Gainesville, and the Postoffice Drug Store and J. A. Stephens, High Springs, Fla.

The song service, which was advertised to be at the Presbyterian church tonight, has been called in, on account of the inability of the singer to be present.

C. H. Crisman of Micanopy, and R. B. Godwin of High Springs, are authorized to take subscriptions and collect for the same for The Star. See them about it.

Miss Ida Wiggins, the efficient teacher of the Traxler school, has returned to Traxler, after spending a few days here the guest of Mrs. A. E. Wittstock.

Wanted—A few incubators and brooders. Address P. O. Box No. 50, Wade, Fla., stating name of manufacturer, size of machine, condition and price wanted.

The Gainesville Planing and Coffin Company have begun operations in earnest. They have one of the best plants in the country, and will doubtless do a good business. Manager Riles is a hustler.

Furnished rooms with privilege of cold and hot bath. Unfurnished rooms, and rooms for light housekeeping, for rent, by Mrs. L. A. Thrasher, East Main St.

Rev. J. B. Holley is attending associational meetings in South Carolina, and he expects to be absent about ten days, during which time Rev. M. A. Clonts will act in his stead as pastor of the First Baptist church.

The press of the country speak in the highest terms of Howe's Great London Shows, which will exhibit in Gainesville December 2. See display ad elsewhere in this paper.

Editor Jno. B. Johnson, of the Dade City Democrat, was circulating among old friends in Gainesville the latter part of last week. Brother Johnson is an able editor, and a prominent member of the State Legislature.

Bring us your cotton, and price our goods. If you can do better elsewhere than with us, no harm done, but give us a trial. G. W. Easterlin & Co., High Springs, Fla.

Our good friend, C. H. Crisman, of Micanopy, was an agreeable caller at the Star office yesterday. Mr. Crisman is one of Micanopy's most highly respected citizens and a staunch friend and supporter of the Star.

Did you say you needed a set of dishes? Well come in, and see our complete line of china, in our china department, second floor. Our prices are lower than the lowest. L. C. Smith.

OPERA HOUSE TUESDAY, DECEMBER 1, -THE GREAT- BARLOW MINSTRELS.

J. A. Coburn, Mgr. & Owner 35 White Artists 35

Grand opening spectacle entitled "A Reception to the Royal Cecilia Courtiers." A beautiful ensemble production, presenting the entire company. Positively everything new this season. "Peerless Barlow Hussar Band" in noonday concert and parade.

Prices 25c., 50c., and 75c. Reserved Seats on Sale at

MILLER & AVERA'S.

The merchandise business of J. C. Newberry, of High Springs, has been put in the hands of a receiver, and Mr. Boliver Kincaid is the receiver. The creditors are represented by Attorneys C. C. Thomas and W. S. Broome, this city.

Have you tried Giddings' Hair Grower? Others have tried it and pronounced it good. For sale at S. B. Giddings' Drug Store, Gainesville, and Postoffice Drug Store and J. A. Stephens, High Springs.

Today, as on last Friday, much local matter has been crowded out of the Star on account of politics, but our readers want to hear what the candidates are doing and saying, and today we give them a touch of "high life" political news.

Visit our shoe department, and see our fine line of ladies shoes, just received. And it will pay you to examine our line of men's and children's shoes. We have the most complete line in the city. L. C. Smith.

Rufus H. Knapp, former associate editor of the High Springs Hornet, but now in the saw mill business at Grove Park, was a business visitor to the city Saturday, and while here he had his name enrolled on our subscription list.

If you want horses, mules, wagons, buggies, carriages, harness, whips, lap robes, or anything else usually kept for sale at a first-class livery, feed and sale stable, you should call on W. R. Thomas, Gainesville, Fla.

Mrs. Fred Quest, an estimable lady of St. Augustine, who was summoned here last week on account of the serious illness of her brother, Mr. E. A. Bryan, left for her home yesterday. Mr. Bryan has sufficiently recovered to be out of danger.

Giddings' Unparalleled Hair Grower is all that its name implies. It cures dandruff stops falling hair and produces new hair. It is an excellent hair dresser. For sale at S. B. Giddings' Drug Store, Gainesville, and the Postoffice Drug Store and J. A. Stephens, High Springs.

Prof. T. F. McBeath of East Florida Seminary, attended the Citrus County Teachers' Association at Inverness last Saturday, and delivered a stirring address. Prof. McBeath is one of the foremost teachers and most eloquent speakers in the State.

Manager Geo. I. Do g, of the new electric company, gladdened the hearts of our people when he turned on brilliant new lights Saturday evening. Gainesville now has one gas and two electric light plants. Where's the city of our size that can beat us on lights?

The Durlingo, Colo., Democrat, in speaking of Howe's Great London Shows, which will exhibit in Gainesville December 2, said: "Howe's Show was clean and good, showed more than they advertised and pleased all who attended. Now what more can be said? They are good people, have a good show and merit all that comes their way."

The Hundred and Fifty-First Psalm. Your Bible, if it is of the regulation sort, closes the book of Psalms with the One Hundred and Fiftieth. In the Greek Bible, however, there is another, entitled "A psalm of David after he had slain Goliath." Athanasius praises it very highly in his "Synopsis of the Holy Scriptures." It was verified by Apollinarius Alexandrinus, A. D. 390, and a Latin translation of it may be found in the works of Fabricius. The English translation is by Baring-Gould, the well known antiquarian:

PSALM CLI. 1. I was small among my brethren, and growing up in my father's house, I kept his sheep.

2. My hands made the organ and my fingers shaped the psalter.

3. And who declared unto my Lord, Ho, the Lord, he heard all things.

4. He sent his angels and they took me from my father's sheep. He anointed me in mercy from his unction.

5. Great and goodly are my brethren, but with them God was not well pleased.

6. I went to meet the giant stranger, and he cursed me by all his idols.

7. But I smote off his head with his own drawn sword, and I blotted out the reproach of Israel.

8. I was small among my brethren, and growing up in my father's house, I kept his sheep.

9. My hands made the organ and my fingers shaped the psalter.

10. And who declared unto my Lord, Ho, the Lord, he heard all things.

11. He sent his angels and they took me from my father's sheep. He anointed me in mercy from his unction.

12. Great and goodly are my brethren, but with them God was not well pleased.

13. I went to meet the giant stranger, and he cursed me by all his idols.

14. But I smote off his head with his own drawn sword, and I blotted out the reproach of Israel.

15. I was small among my brethren, and growing up in my father's house, I kept his sheep.

16. My hands made the organ and my fingers shaped the psalter.

17. And who declared unto my Lord, Ho, the Lord, he heard all things.

18. He sent his angels and they took me from my father's sheep. He anointed me in mercy from his unction.

19. Great and goodly are my brethren, but with them God was not well pleased.

20. I went to meet the giant stranger, and he cursed me by all his idols.

21. But I smote off his head with his own drawn sword, and I blotted out the reproach of Israel.

22. I was small among my brethren, and growing up in my father's house, I kept his sheep.

23. My hands made the organ and my fingers shaped the psalter.

24. And who declared unto my Lord, Ho, the Lord, he heard all things.

25. He sent his angels and they took me from my father's sheep. He anointed me in mercy from his unction.

26. Great and goodly are my brethren, but with them God was not well pleased.

27. I went to meet the giant stranger, and he cursed me by all his idols.

28. But I smote off his head with his own drawn sword, and I blotted out the reproach of Israel.

29. I was small among my brethren, and growing up in my father's house, I kept his sheep.

30. My hands made the organ and my fingers shaped the psalter.

31. And who declared unto my Lord, Ho, the Lord, he heard all things.

32. He sent his angels and they took me from my father's sheep. He anointed me in mercy from his unction.

33. Great and goodly are my brethren, but with them God was not well pleased.

34. I went to meet the giant stranger, and he cursed me by all his idols.

35. But I smote off his head with his own drawn sword, and I blotted out the reproach of Israel.

36. I was small among my brethren, and growing up in my father's house, I kept his sheep.

37. My hands made the organ and my fingers shaped the psalter.

38. And who declared unto my Lord, Ho, the Lord, he heard all things.

39. He sent his angels and they took me from my father's sheep. He anointed me in mercy from his unction.

40. Great and goodly are my brethren, but with them God was not well pleased.

41. I went to meet the giant stranger, and he cursed me by all his idols.

42. But I smote off his head with his own drawn sword, and I blotted out the reproach of Israel.

43. I was small among my brethren, and growing up in my father's house, I kept his sheep.

44. My hands made the organ and my fingers shaped the psalter.

45. And who declared unto my Lord, Ho, the Lord, he heard all things.

46. He sent his angels and they took me from my father's sheep. He anointed me in mercy from his unction.

47. Great and goodly are my brethren, but with them God was not well pleased.

48. I went to meet the giant stranger, and he cursed me by all his idols.

49. But I smote off his head with his own drawn sword, and I blotted out the reproach of Israel.

50. I was small among my brethren, and growing up in my father's house, I kept his sheep.

We Have In Stock, and are constantly receiving "up-to-date" Shoes for Men, Women and Children, at popular prices and of the best makes. We call Particular attention to the Ladies "Brockport" and Mens "All America" and "Walk Over" grades. J. D. Matheson, Shoe and Leather Store. Gainesville, Fla.

ESTABLISHED 1869. H. F. DUTTON & CO., Cotton Department, GAINESVILLE, FLA. Highest Price Paid for Sea Island Cotton In Seed or Lint, Large or Small Quantities. Advances made. Warehouse charges free. Firm offers made by letter or wire. Correspondence solicited.

J. B. Douglas, Dealer in Heavy and Fancy Groceries, Bacon, Lard, Butter, Flour, Meal, Grits, Rice, Coffee, Sugar, Canned Goods, and in fact everything in the Grocery line. Hay and Grain Prices low as the lowest, and weights, measure and quality guaranteed. New Stand, I have recently opened up at a new stand, and wish all of my old customers and new ones to call, see and buy. J. B. Douglas, 122 West Main St., GAINESVILLE, FLA. Next Door to S. J. Thomas.

Howe's Great London Shows, The Only Big Show Coming This Year, Gainesville Wednesday, December 2. 15 Clowns Wheeler's Marine Band, Grand FREE STREET Pageant Be on the street at 11 a. m. and witness our grand, free and new street parade. Two Performances Daily 1 p. m. and 7 p. m. Many Strange Zoological Specimens. Send Us $1.00 for a Year's The STAR is $1 a Subscription to the Twice-A-Week Star. Year.